Filipino Values And Our Christian Faith By Evelyn Miranda-Feliciano

First published in 1990, this book has become a landmark book in Filipino Evangelical Christian literature. It has often been quoted in other books, essays and scholarly journals and is one of the primary resource materials on living Biblically as a Filipino.

In this book, Evelyn Miranda-Feliciano challenges Filipino Christians to reflect and evaluate certain culturally-accepted Filipino values and practices. Deep and hard-hitting, her questions are as relevant today as when she first asked them.

What is the value of pakikisama in our new life in Christ?

How far should our utang na loob extend?

What is the difference between bahala na and the Christian concept of God's will?

How truly honest can a Christian be in a culture that has accepted lusot, lakad and lagay?
